

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

CLC'S INTRO to PRESCHOOL class is designed to introduce young children to the typical routines and activities offered during a preschool day.

Parent and child will attend together to enjoy language development activities, arts and crafts projects, games and play materials for large and small muscle development, sensory exploration, music and movement, an introduction to cooperative play, as well as other developmentally appropriate learning activities.

The class also will introduce parents to the principles of Conscious Discipline®. (For more information on Conscious Discipline®, visit www.lovingguidance.com.)

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

As with other CLC classes, the primary aim of the Intro to Preschool class is to develop the whole child. We make use of a child's natural curiosity to instill the desire to learn and to make learning satisfying so a child will continue to seek it out. This optimizes a child's brain and body development.

In addition, we aim to support a child's comfortable separation from parents and his/her transition into the classroom when beginning a longer preschool program. By introducing them to the preschool setting and routines while they are accompanied by a parent, we hope to help them build comfort and trust in the setting of a regular preschool program. This can serve as a helpful bridge into a program.

We provide a wealth of inter-related experiences that each child needs to fully develop the brain and the body for optimal performance in later years.

Class sessions include:

- language development activities
- arts and crafts projects
- games and play materials for large and small muscle development
- sensory exploration
- music and movement
- an introduction to cooperative play
- other developmentally appropriate learning activities
